

Our Approach and Working Methods

Thanks to our systematic approach, we precisely formulate role and competence profiles. From this point on we derive the corresponding learning objectives, and define the essential topics and contents for your training.

Trainings are put into practice by means of appropriate interactive methods. For us, the constructive alignment of our trainings is based on the success-monitoring and performance-measurement.

Our trainings can be combined with individual and/or team coaching in order to fold the development of both thematic and methodical competences as well as social and personal skills into each other.

We practice what we preach!

- Committed
- Empathic
- Individual
- Interactive
- Humorous
- Communicative
- Affectionate
- Methodical
- Target-oriented

Special Topics

Talks

We give specialist lectures on particular didactic topics or other topics relevant to higher education on request. By these means, we can complement and enrich your meetings and conferences according to your needs and requirements.

Quality Circles

We facilitate sustainable optimization and reflection processes based on the method of the so-called cooperative practical case consultation (Kollegiale Praxisberatung). By these means, we support your institution to establish a continuous process of improvement.

Blended Learning / E-Learning

Would you like to create tutorial videos or use other digital possibilities for your teaching practice? Simply talk to us! Our e-learning specialists will be pleased to advise and support you with their know-how and experience.

University Marketing

Show what you stand for as an institution of higher education! We have been supporting universities in national and international student recruiting processes for many years.

We are happy to support and to consult you – from strategic marketing and internationalization development right up to fair presentation design at national and international exhibitions.

Graphic Recording

Would you like to have more than just a protocol nobody will ever read as a documentation of your meeting or conference? Graphic recording is a special means of visualization of communication processes.

You talk – we'll visualize!

Academic Human Resources Development

Besides their responsibilities as university managers, executives in academia are in charge of numerous other duties.

In their leadership role, they are professionals in communication and relationship management as well as controlling.

Their mission is to facilitate and optimize the results of their teams and staff.

How can they succeed? We offer professional human resources development programmes to enable executive university staff to successfully deal with the numerous challenges of academic everyday life.

Higher Education and Faculty Development

Our vision: The learning organization as the result of a dynamic, up-to-date, flexible, changing, and creative unit!

This is the aim of all our measures. To achieve this, we are in continuous dialogue with corresponding universities, reviewing and supporting the optimization of existing concepts and approaches.

Universities and scientific institutions receive competent consulting to all strategic questions and to the required realignment of their organizational development.

The scope of our comprehensive consulting ranges from strategic ideas to facilitation and support right up to complete implementation of the jointly identified measures.

Didactics of Higher Education

The design of activating and effective academic courses is a fundamental task and challenge for teaching staff.

Our seminar participants learn to develop this capacity, to reflect on their existing teaching concepts and approaches, and to integrate innovative methods of teaching and learning to their own teaching practices.

Our seminars focus on the individual competences of our participants to deal with all relevant fields of action surrounding professional modern teaching in higher education.
